

Micro-Counselling and Brief Interventions

WHERE: Yaralla Sports Club,
45 O'Connell Street,
Gladstone QLD 4690

WHEN: 3rd May 2019

TIME: 09:00am – 04:30pm

In the counselling environment, a well-established therapeutic relationship provides the necessary foundation for delivering a wide range of treatment interventions that enhance treatment outcomes. In the AOD counselling environment, brief interventions are often delivered opportunistically to raise a client's awareness of some of the issues associated with their AOD use. A sound skill in the use of micro-counselling skills can build a strong therapeutic relationship that thereby facilitates clients' optimal receipt of treatment for problematic AOD use.

Topics covered in this workshop will include:

- enhancing interpersonal communication by developing primary attending behaviours, verbal and non-verbal communication skills, therapeutic or empathic listening skills
- developing and maintaining a productive therapeutic relationship
- using kinesics and proxemics in brief intervention delivery
- recognising and overcoming barriers to effective communication
- using the FRAMES and FLAGS brief interventions models
- skills practise
